I am an enthusiastic individual, eager to contribute to team success through hard work, attention to detail and excellent organisational skills. Clear understanding of Front End and OOP Design Principles and currently training in React to further growth in Front End. Motivated to learn, grow, and excel in Web Development.

I am working through The Odin Project, a resource for self-taught web developers to help me pursue my career-ambitions of Web Development and make the career change. In my personal time I enjoy PC gaming, golf, airsoft, watching esports and researching new technologies and languages.
